MOVING A HEAVY LOAD

27 TON MONUMENT WENT THROUGH TOWN LAST WEEK.

Roller and Traction Engine take it Part of Way, Rope Tackle and Mules Finish Job.

The ease with which heavy objects are moved was well illustrated last week. The object was the great granite block weighing 22 tons shipped here by the Vananring Granite Co., of Boston. A great wagon was specially constructed to hold the stone which in itself weighed 11-2 tons, the combined weight of wagon and stone being almost 27 tons. Wagon and stone were brought here several months ago over the Reading railroad and have been kept at the Reading freight depot awaiting transportation to the spot near Spanglers Spring where it will be erected as a battlefield monument.

J. F. Roche, of Westbury, a setter of monuments and monuments had charge of the moving last week and showed that he was a master at his craft. With Farrell's big roller pulling the wagon and monument and a traction engine pushing a line of mules was begun from Reading freight office up Washington street.

The first difficulty was met when crossing Chambersburg street at corner from Farrell's to Coburn's. The rear wheels of the wagon with stone on it were on the iron plates covering the gutter and dropped as far as they could go. The mules were put in line and slowly and surely the heavy load was raised and floored until clear of the gutter, then with help of plants everything was ready to move. It had taken several hours to get it out of the gutter.

With the two engines, pulling and pushing the wagon proceeded up Washington street to Brookbridge St. to Butler street, out that street and down to Baltimore street, the meadow lot at the residence on the farm of S. M. Bosman. The hills were climbed without difficulty and going down hill the big roller pulled while the traction engine held back, acting as a brake. It was a days' work on Wednesday to reach Bushman's meadow.

Thursday about three hundred feet were made in the meadow. The ground was too soft for the roller and engine and John Sachs' four mules were the motive power, but they would have been helpless without the men who made it possible with human skill for the mules to pull it.

The way of the 27 ton load had to be planked and it had to be hitched to a dead main, sunk in the ground or to a tree, then with rope and tackle all in order Mr. Roche would call to the owner of the mules, "Go on John, slowly." Back would come the answer, "All right Jim," and the mules would be urged forward and as they strained they would be touched with a whip and off would go the wagon for a few feet until the planks gave out, then W. O. who stopped the morning, a 100 foot 20 feet were made. Fifty-ton mules were needed by the owner on his farm and further moving was postponed until this week.

It was supposed by many that the mules were forbidden for the purpose of moving the monument, but such was not the case. The difficulties of this week will be the soft meadow through which the heavy load will be taken. It is a sight to see, nothing is done in a hurry, everything is made good and ready in a skillful way and then the heavy load moves on.

New Sanitarium Opened.

Dr. J. F. Rothrock formally opened his new Sanitarium near Mont Alto last week and one patient was on hand ready to occupy a cottage. Dr. Rothrock will place his patients in small frame dens instead of in tents. These dens are miniature cottages with door, window and wooden floors.

Ugly Runaway.

Three ladies and an infant of Berwick township participated in an ugly runaway last week without however any serious injury to anyone. Mrs. George Sterner with an infant child, her mother, Mrs. Lewis Keilenberger, and her sister, Miss Keilenberger, were in a conveyance going to Hanover. They passed a barn where an engine and thresher were in operation. The horse took fright and ran at full speed, upsetting vehicle, throwing the occupants out. Mrs. Sterner sustained slight bruises about face but the others were not injured in any way. The vehicle was a complete wreck but horse was uninjured.

An Unfortunate Scalding.

Mrs. Minnie Hummelbaugh of this place was the victim of an unfortunate scalding accident last week. She had gone to Round Top with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David McGowan, and other relatives. The coffee pot filled with water had been placed over a fire when the pencils were ready for supper. Mrs. Hummelbaugh went to coffee pot to ascertain whether water was boiling and while bending over it the lid flew off and the boiling water dashed into her face, around the eyes and on the forehead. Fortunately the eyes escaped. Lifting her apron to her face the skin peeled off and made a very painful wound.

Old House Gone.

An old house which has been in one family since its erection disappeared last week. This was the frame dwelling house on West Middle street belonging to the Misses Kendeblatt. The house was erected by James Bowen, the grandfather of the present owners and it was part of his estate at his death shortly after the battle. As near as it can be figured out the house was built about 35 years ago. For many years it has had the appearance of an old house. It goes to make room for a fine brick dwelling the Misses Kendeblatt will erect.

Hurt in Scuffle With Horse.

Clayton Moxley, the well known horseman of this place, got into a scuffle with a horse, of J. L. Butt, last week, with result that he had his left arm injured. The horse and rider in a lively humor and in attempting to get away Moxley jumped off and was jerked and thrown about. A rash was torn in the left arm near the elbow that took nine stitches to close. It isn't often a horse gets one on Moxley.

UNUSUAL CASE FOR COURT

PRISONER CHARGED WITH ASSAULT ON DEAF MUTE

Justice was Unable to Swear Deaf Mute and Had to Accept Explanation of Signs and Motions.

The court will be called upon at the August Sessions beginning on the fourth Monday of this month to consider a criminal case with certain very unusual circumstances. It is the case of Com. vs Charles Anderson, the defendant being charged with an assault and battery on Laura Reed with intent to have carnal knowledge, both parties being colored of this place. The warrant for the arrest of Anderson was issued on Tuesday of last week and the same night the defendant was arrested and given a hearing on Wednesday morning. The information was made by a relative of party alleged to have been assaulted.

Laura Reed has lived here many years, enjoys an excellent name, is about 40 years of age and is a deaf mute. Years ago she was sent to a deaf mute school and mastered the language of the fingers but in the past fifteen years in which she has been living here she has to a large extent forgotten the finger language and has depended upon signs to make her self understood.

Justice Quimby in hearing the case found it was impossible to administer an oath to Laura Reed. She could not read writing, she had forgotten the finger language so as to be able to spell out the oath as attempted to be made to her. He was compelled to depend upon the interpretation of signs as made by others. Mrs. Evans testified that she heard the peculiar noise Laura Reed would sometimes make, went into her room and saw Anderson there about to leave. Laura Reed had a chair in front of her and it was alleged that the signs and motions made by her meant that she had taken her of the arm, that she struggled and that her dress had been caught hold of. The defendant was held in $5000 bail to answer the charge preferred against him and is in jail awaiting trial.

Just how the evidence will be presented to the jury will be for District Attorney and Judge to decide. It is a most important matter for those who are afflicted as Laura Reed deserve to have the utmost protection the law can give them and any offence as alleged in this case deserves severe punishment.

Other cases to be heard at the August court have been returned by Justices of the Peace to the Clerk of the Court are the following:

Com. vs Henry W. Cole, two cases, one charging fornication and bastardy and the other statutory rape, Gertrude Gracy being the prosecutrix in both cases. The prosecutrix has since married defendant in York jail but cases remain open in this county. Cases were returned by Justice of Peace V. H. Lilly of McSherrystown.

Com. vs Herb Mathews colored, charged with assault and battery on oath of Charles Riggs, returned by Justice Wm. P. Quimby.

Com. vs Charles Riggs, charged with shooting and discharging a loaded revolver with intent to murder on oath of Upright Johnson, returned by Justice J. L. Hill.

Com. vs Edward Wirt, charged with larceny of sorrel horse worth $50 on oath of David Phillips of Reading township, returned by Justice J. L. Hill.

Com. vs Naomi Criswell and Mary Cook, charged with malicious mischief on oath of Harvey A. Scott, taking and driving his team and breaking a spoke in his buggy, returned by Justice J. L. Hill.

Com. vs Della Criswell charged with a common nuisance and keeping disorderly house on oath of Charles H. Wilson, returned by Justice J. L. Hill.

Com. vs C. P. Smith charged with the larceny of a halter worth $1.00 by W. S. Jacobs of Cumberland township returned by Justice Wm. P. Quimby.

Three cases have been settled. The two cases charging assault and battery and surety of peace of Com. vs Daniel H. Barr on oath of his wife and case against Claude Althoff of aggravated assault and battery on oath of Mary Rider.

Gen. Miller Reappointed.

Governor Pennypacker last week reappointed Major General Charles Miller as Commander of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, with the rank of Major General, for the full term of five years. General Miller is a great friend of the Gettysburg battlefield as a permanent camping ground for the National Guard and it is to be hoped that this community will have the pleasure of having General Miller in command of the Guards for the next five years at this point.

To Become a Forester.

About ten days ago twenty young men took the competitive examination for admission to the State Forestry Academy at Mont Alto. Among the number was Charles W. Stock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Stock of this place. Last week the names of the fourteen applicants who successfully passed the examination was announced by State Forestry Commissioner Conklin. Mr. Stock was on that list with a very creditable average, the highest being 92.7 and his 88.1.

The school opens on September 4. The course covers three years. There is no compensation attached as school was at first conducted, the State however furnishes what is needed during the course except horse.

Pennsylvania was the first state to establish such a school. It is a profession of the greatest importance. The saw mills are wading through the timber of the country six days of every week and fifty-two weeks of every year. The preservation of the timber at the head waters of the streams, the reforestation of many acres, the protection of timber from fires, the tree nursery and numerous other questions belonging to forestry are studied. The demand for foresters is constantly growing. The work largely out-of-doors is a most attractive one.

DROWNING IN HIGH WATER

James L. Julius Loses His Life in Bermudian Creek.

Sunday brought the shocking news of the drowning of James L. Julius of Latimore township in Bermudian Creek. Mr. Julius owns the mill formerly known as Power Mill along the creek. The rains on Saturday had swollen the stream to a torrent.

There is a plank bridge near the mill maintained by the township with guard rails on either side. Saturday evening Mr. Julius attempted to cross this bridge in a conveyance. The water was rushing over the bridge. A plank was swept on a ridge which frightened the horse. It plunged over the bridge, breaking down the side guards and taking vehicle and Mr. Julius into the creek. The horse struggled in the water and finally reached shore. The food carried Mr. Julius down stream. The body was not found until Sunday morning and then two miles down the creek from the point of accident.

Mr. Julius was a prominent Democrat and citizen of Latimore township, had a merry greeting for every one and enjoyed the respect of all who knew him. He was about 50 years of age and leaves a wife, a married daughter Mrs. Myers of Pittsburg, a son attending Lancaster Business College and two small sons at home.

New Bank Officers.

The directors and officers of the First National Bank of Yorksburg elected at the organization last week were the following: Directors, Anthony Dearholt, E. J. Myers, Adam Kimmel, John M. Raffenberger, Henry J. Gardner and A. B. Mummert. Anthony Dearholt was elected president, A. B. Mummert, Vice President and W. R. Faust, Cashier. It is expected to have the bank in working order in August.

State Highway Department.

The State Highway Department has been doing business since 1904 and one hundred and fifty miles of road have either been built or are now under construction by the department.

The applications received number 349, aggregating a total mileage of 659, of the millions being spent for good roads, there is but one application from Adams county for road of less than a mile and the construction of it has not been started.

Shippensburg State Normal School.

Every young person who expects to teach should receive a Normal training. No better Normal School in which to secure this training can be found than the Shippensburg State Normal School. The state pays the tuition of every student over 17 years of age, who is preparing to teach. The Fall Term is the best time to begin a Normal course. This term commences the first Monday in September and continues fifteen weeks. An illustrated catalogue of the school can be obtained free by addressing Dr. G. M. D. Eckel, Principal, Shippensburg, Pa.

SOME SEWER DEVELOPMENTS

DIGGING BEGUN ON LAST FRIDAY—28 MEN AT WORK.

It is Likely The Plans Will Have to Include a Filtering Wall to Septic Tank.

There are many things to be looked after, as the general sewer system of this town develops. Among others the rights of way have been occupying the attention of officials during last week. The first rights were down along Stevens run where digging would begin. Dr. John A. Swope gave the town a right of way through his field. The town will buy of Dr. Swope enough land needed for the septic tank and that deal has not been closed. Jacob Herbst received $25 for a right of way through his land and that takes the sewer to the Barbehenn land opposite Water street. A bond has been delivered to Lewis Barbehenn to cover the damages. The amount will be likely agreed upon later.

Further up the same stream a bond has been given by Trustees of Pennsylvania College. It is not anticipated that the college authorities will ask any money. There was no committee authorized to give a right of way and bond was delivered so land could be entered. The right there will be adjusted at the winter meeting of the Board of Trustees.

The consideration for land along run of Calvin Gilbert has not yet been agreed upon. For rights of way on the southeast of town Jacob Raffenberger will ask no damages, Dr. J. W. C. O'Neal said he would let matter of his damages to the sewer committee. Mrs. Myers, nee Bechiel, and this committee have not yet reached terms so a bond has been given Mrs. Myers for the legal damages for a right of way.

Charles F. Smith is on the ground representing the contractors, Fehr and O'Rourke. A large shanty has been erected on the Warren lot on West Middle street. It is fitted up with double decked bunkers and is expected to hold a force of 50 Italians if necessary. At one end of the building is the office of the padrone who will have charge of the supplies, etc.

It is said that labor for ditch digging is scarce and that the contractors are experiencing some difficulty to get the same, a few arrived on Thursday and on Friday work was begun in the field of Dr. Swope on east side Love Lane, near the run with a force of seven men. Other men continued to arrive. On Monday there was a force of twenty eight men at work, twenty one being Italian and balance from about town.

The digging machine has not yet arrived but is expected at an early date. Its operations will be confined to the streets, being too heavy for work in soft fields. No pipe has yet arrived.

One snag was encountered last week. The plans and specifications for sewer under the law are compelled to be approved by the State Board of Health. The engineer of this department, a Mr. Mullie, made his appearance last Wednesday, went over the town, then went to Rock Creek and followed it to the Maryland line. He was asked on Thursday before he left for the result of his investigations, but said he reported to his department and Dr. Dickson would decide what would have to be done. He said he had noticed that cattle along the creek used it for drinking purposes. He intimated that it was usual for a filtering wall to be added to every septic tank and that neither the plans for sewer nor the septic tank to first ward sewer had such a filtering wall. From his talk it could be concluded that filtering walls will have to be added to the plans. He said a contamination of any kind could pass into creek through such a filtering wall.

The finance committee has in mind the photographing of bonds and coupons and are obtaining prices of city lithographers, but have not made contract for same.

Arendtsville L. T. L. Meeting.

The exercises of the graduating class of the Local Temperance Legion of Arendtsville were held on the lawn at the home of Luther Rice Wednesday evening, July 26.

The lawn was well illuminated with Japanese lanterns. The class consisting of eight graduates, namely, Amy Clara Bittinger, Ruth Elia Koser, Lulu Mae Miller, Bessie Kate Raffenberger, Roy Moses Raffenberger, Guy Samuel Raffenberger, Eliza Amanda Thomas, and Mary Abbe Weidner, with two of the graduates from the Sumner-side Legion, Mrs. Lola W. Griest and Wallace Peters, occupied the stage during the evening.

Although the weather was extremely cool quite a number of the parents and friends of the class assembled to enjoy their well rendered program.

The meeting was opened with the county and state songs by the class and Alumni and devotional exercises by Rev. Hesson.

Recitations were given in the following order: "Winner's Victory" by Amy Bittinger, "Samantha as a Politician" by Ruth Koser, "A Battle Is On, God Called For Three" by Wallace Peters, after which we had a reading entitled "Reformation of Jack Morgan" by Mrs. Lola W. Griest and a solo, "The Volunteer Organist," by Eliza Thomas. The class poem was given by Guy Weidner, the class history by Lulu Miller and the class prophecy by Roy Raffenberger.

The gifts to class, selected by the Alumni, were presented by Guy Raffenberger, followed by a solo, "A Tale of a Winter's Night," sung by Bessie Raffenberger.

Netta Frostie, one of the alumni, extended greetings to class which was promptly responded to by Lulu Miller.

In absence of the county superintendent, Miss Ella Weidner, ex-President of alumni, presented the diplomas with appropriate remarks. The address to class was given by Rev. Koser. He very forcibly impressed upon their minds the wisdom and importance of the step taken and the necessity of being loyal at all times to the cause.

May our motto, "Lifting Others as We Climb," always be our guide.

A collection amounting to $23.33 was taken.

A song by the class completed the program, after which Rev. Hesson pronounced the benediction.

Early Building Operations.

It looks as though house building was going to be the rage this fall. There are rumors of new houses on Spriggs Avenue, on Broadway, two buildings making four residences will go up on latter street for sure and points to the east and south of town are mentioned as sites for early building operations.

East Middle street extended is a favorite section now. C. Wm. Troxell last week sold Mrs. Sara A. McCullough a 40 foot lot on this street for $300. This lot is within about 100 feet of corner of Middle and Liberty streets. Mrs. McCullough will begin the erection of a frame dwelling on this lot within a week or two. Mr. Troxell says as soon as he takes up his poles on an adjoining 50 foot lot he proposes to erect on it a double frame house.

Lady Attacked by Dog.

Mrs. Mary J. Weaver, mother of J. S. Weaver of New Oxford, while walking along a street of that borough, was attacked by a large dog. It jumped on her back, tearing her clothing and sinking its teeth into the neck lady's flesh to such an extent as to require the services of a physician to dress the wound. The dog was not considered mad, but vicious, and ought to be killed. Owner of dog settled matter by payment of damages of $20.

Busy Building Furniture.

The Eagle Furniture Company is very busy these days building furniture. A visit any day to the works will show everything on the move and furniture being turned out as fast as human skill and machinery can do it. Orders are coming in daily and sideboards are leading in the orders. There are already in the works 300 pieces of furniture in process of being put together and already finished. The daily output is about 15 pieces of furniture.

Central Hotel Bus Wrecked.

The Central Hotel bus was returning from W. M. R. R. depot to hotel on Saturday evening. There were six persons in conveyance besides driver. On reaching square a wheel caught in trolley track and smashed and let the vehicle down to the ground. The driver, John Baltimore, was thrown out but was not injured. The passengers were shaken up but were not injured.

Interesting Lecture.

Frank Edwards a graduate of Oberlin University gave an entertaining address in the Memorial U. B. church in this place on Sunday morning and in the Salem church in the evening. Mr. Edwards was born in Freedtown, Africa, of English parents. His parents both died when he was quite young. The missionaries of the U. B. church have had charge of him since then. His purpose is to become a medical missionary and is lecturing to that end.

THOSE TIRED EYES

THE danger of neglecting this seemingly simple warning cannot be overestimated. Strong, healthy eyes do not tire—before any other organ. If the eyes complain, ever so little, you should safeguard yourself against a real breakdown of the eyesight.

Headaches or any irregularity of vision call for instant attention.

Come to us for examination. We'll give you the proper glasses if you need them. If you don't, it will cost you nothing.

Squinting

Looks particularly unlovely when children do it. Don't imagine that it is a habit you can break them of, for it is simply an outward sign of defective eyesight. The child must look that way to see right. The only way to cure squinting is to cure the defect in the eyesight—the right glasses will do that. No charge for examination.

A FEW GETTYSBURG TESTIMONIALS

Gettysburg, Pa., Dec. 15, 1904.

Dr. G. E. Jacobs:

I have used the glasses you furnished me with much advantage—I have been in the hands of oculists and specialists for several years without advantage. You gave me a single sitting and a thorough examination, and furnished me with spectacles that gave me much relief. Your equipment seems to be perfect. I furnish this recital with much pleasure.

Respectfully,

J. W. C. O'NEAL, M. D.

Pennsylvania College,

Gettysburg, Pa., Jan. 19, 1905.

Dr. G. E. Jacobs,

Gettysburg, Pa.

Dear Sir:—The glasses you furnished me some months since are in every way satisfactory. Your method of examination impressed me most favorably and satisfied me that you knew what you were about. The proof of this is in the excellent glasses themselves.

Very truly yours,

P. M. BIKLE, Ph. D.

Gettysburg, Pa., Dec. 14, 1904.

Dr. G. E. Jacobs,

Gettysburg, Pa.

Dear Sir:—Ever since you fitted me with glasses I have felt like writing you a special testimonial, as you have done for me what no other oculist or optician has done, and I have consulted many. I naturally feel grateful. My eyes are growing stronger all the time. I use them constantly during the day in my own work, and at night I can read until bed-time if necessary, something that I have not been able to do for years.

Besides I am rid of the unsightly patch I had been compelled to wear over my left eye, which was always a source of great annoyance to me.

I have been up against so much humbug in this matter, in times past, that it will give me the greatest pleasure to recommend your work to any one who may have need of it.

Yours truly,

JOHN A. COX,

Agent P. & R. R. R.

Gettysburg, Pa., Dec. 23, 1904.

Dear Dr. Jacobs:

It gives me pleasure to say that the glasses you fitted me with last July have given me entire satisfaction. I have had very little headache since wearing them. I have full confidence in your ability to correct defects of vision and consider you an expert in your profession.

Very truly yours,

H. C. PICKING.

Gettysburg, Pa., December 16, 1904.

Dear Sir:—The lenses you fitted for me are very satisfactory and I have taken pleasure in recommending your work to my friends.

Mrs. DR. M. VALENTINE.

Gettysburg, Pa., Dec. 17, 1904.

Dr. G. E. Jacobs,

Dear Sir:—After trying three oculists of well known reputation, I take pleasure in saying that the glasses you fitted for me in the summer are the most satisfactory I have ever worn. It is a pleasure to wear them.

The new glasses you furnished my daughter give equal satisfaction.

Yours truly,

THOS. J. STABLE.

Theological Seminary,

Gettysburg, Pa., Dec. 17, 1904.

Dear Dr. Jacobs:—

I do not hesitate to tell any of my classmates in the Seminary that the glasses I got from you three months ago are giving me perfect satisfaction. Indeed, I can say more: They are better than any I have had since I began to wear glasses eleven years ago.

Respectfully yours,

F. A. HERGENHAN.

Lewistown, Pa., Dec. 5, 1904.

My Dear Dr. Jacobs:

The glasses came promptly and I am much pleased with them. The lenses are so satisfactory that I think I will have you put them in my spectacle frames and also in my other eye glasses.

Very truly yours,

M. L. DUNN.

Professor in Bucknell University.

Gettysburg, Pa., December 15, 1904.

G. E. Jacobs, Ref. D.

Dear Sir:—It gives me great pleasure to say that the lenses which you have fitted for my eyes give great comfort. Thank you for the care and patience given to troublesome eyes.

Yours respectfully,

ALICE K. BAUGHER.

Gettysburg, Pa., Dec. 23, 1904.

Dr. G. E. Jacobs,

Although I have a pair of peculiar eyes, the one being near-sighted and the other far-sighted, and both astigmatic, the bi-focal glasses you fitted for me are entirely satisfactory.

Your Friend,

AMOS ECKERT.

Gettysburg, Pa., Dec. 29, 1904.

Dr. G. E. Jacobs,

Dear Doctor:—Since you examined and fitted my eyes with glasses I had that the headache with which I was troubled has greatly lessened, and the intense pain directly in the eyeball has left me entirely. I am pleased to say that the glasses are entirely satisfactory.

Respectfully,

CHAS. M. M. DRUM.

Gettysburg, Pa., Dec. 17, 1904.

Dr. G. E. Jacobs,

Dear Sir:—I am glad to recommend you. My eyes have given me constant trouble for years, in fact I was nearly blind, but you gave me the relief I despaired of. I can now see perfectly.

Yours respectfully,

MRS. E. GOWEN.

Gettysburg, Pa., December 14, 1904.

Dr. G. E. Jacobs,

Gettysburg, Pa.

Dear Sir:—The glasses with which you fitted me give entire satisfaction. I have sent you a number of my friends to whom you have also given satisfaction.

Yours respectfully,

MRS. DR. C. ECKENROBE.

Tillie, Adams County, Pa., Dec. 17, 1904.

Dr. G. E. Jacobs,

Dear Sir:—Before you fitted my eyes with glasses I had always been nearly blind. My distant vision was a blur, and there was a great strain on my eyes when I tried to read or sew. Eighteen years ago I had my eyes examined and treated by a famous oculist in Baltimore but the glasses he prescribed were never satisfactory. Many times since I have gotten glasses from so-called opticians but only received temporary relief until I had them thoroughly examined by you.

You fitted me with bi-focal lenses and I found as you told me they bothered me at first, but in a short time I became used to them and they are now perfectly satisfactory in every respect. I would not do without them for five times their cost. I will cheerfully recommend you to any one having defective eye-sight.

Yours respectfully,

MRS. JOHN F. CURRENS.

It gives me real pleasure to heartily commend Dr. G. E. Jacobs to all persons needing a competent and reliable optician. He fitted my eyes last October with bi-focal glasses which have relieved me of pain in my eyes and head. He also fitted me with a pair of "Shur-On" eye-glasses, which give ease and comfort, and I find them a perfect success.

I can confidently recommend his methods as safe and satisfactory.

Statesville, N. C.

Jan. 24, 1905.

MRS. (MAE) W. M. ROBBINS.

Gettysburg, Pa., Dec. 21, 1904.

Dr. G. E. Jacobs:—

I am very glad to say that my glasses are giving perfect satisfaction, and I gladly recommend you to others.

Respectfully,

ELIZABETH RUMMEL.

Gettysburg, Pa., Jan. 12, 1905.

Dr. G. E. Jacobs, Ref. D.

Dear Sir:—The bi-focal eye-glasses you fitted to my eyes last summer are entirely satisfactory. I wear them constantly, and besides the great comfort they give me in seeing, both distant and near objects so clearly, the miserable headaches, from which I had suffered for years, have all disappeared. I have recommended you to quite a number of my friends, to whom you have also given the best of satisfaction.

Yours respectfully,

J. W. GARLACH.

Is Reading
an Effort?

Sound vision never calls for effort. If you are always trying to see through a blurring mist, or if your eyes ever give you pain or discomfort—you are straining them, and glasses are needed

Neglect of nature's warnings will bring on serious eye ailments. Don't risk your sight. Come to us with the first symptom. We'll tell you what the trouble is and give you the glasses to remedy it.

You Can't Exchange
Your Eyes

Or have them made over again, and yet of all precious possessions the eyes are probably the most abused. They are used in all kinds of light, overstrained, over-worked, neglected. Let us examine your eyes to see what they need before serious harm is done.

Children are called stupid

And dull by teachers and parents, oftentimes for no other reason than that their eyes are not as the eyes of other children. Perhaps they do not see as well as they should, cannot study long without pain and headaches, and eventually, if no much drivers, become seared in distraction. Parents take a grave responsibility upon themselves when they neglect the signs of defective eyesight. We make no charge for an examination and never recommend glasses unless they are needed.

VALLEY OF WILLOUGHBY

WITH PICTURE WHERE WILLOUGHBY JOINS MARSH CREEK

Thoughts and Things Suggested by a Picturesque Spot A Unique Foot Bridge.

Adams county is dotted all over with the picturesque. Beauty of mountain, valley, stream and wood is every where and does not have to be searched for. Behold and appreciate. The miles of fine avenue around the county seat constantly give the beautiful and picturesque. About Gettysburg these avenues are the well beaten tracks over which thousands go each year to receive and carry away the inspiration of the beautiful. There are, however, less frequented ways and a most charming one is down to the end of the valley of the Willoughby.

Willoughby's Run at many points along its course through the western part of Cumberland township seems hardly to deserve the name of stream. A mere thread it crosses into Cumberland township from Butler township, with the flow of one or two springs. At points it is a narrow run through fields. It gathers the flows of other springs and becomes a succession of pools through a rocky basin and the connecting links of stream seem scarcely to move at times. At one time the big Springs Dam was made out of the run but that has gone now. A large portion of the run is through the red shale country and for a mile down the creek from the Fairfield road it has a rock characteristic distinctly its own and different from the rock formations at Marsh or Rock Creeks. Willoughby's Run is a sleepy kind of a thing most of the year, yet it can arise to the occasion in times of flood.

Willoughby's Run is in history to stay. It was down in the valley of Willoughby on the first day of the Battle of Gettysburg the Iron Brigade fought to cover themselves with glory and captured the whole of Archer's Brigade.

At the same point the most famous waters of the county from the Katy-line Springs empty themselves into Willoughby. The fact is this run is made up of exceptional waters from exceptional springs and no doubt the day will come when the stream will receive less of the flow of these springs than in times past because they will be bottled to supply the demands of the world. The trade in bottled water is enormous today and with every kind of a freakish taste under the sun. Into Willoughby goes to waste pure spring water with qualities of healthfulness and a pleasant taste, pure and good, water that should be on the table of every man able to pay for it. The future will likely give the man who will develop this business more largely than ever in the past.

But to get to the end of the valley of the Willoughby one must keep on going and not linger too long at any spring resorts along the way. Though the roads are less traveled than the avenues yet at many seasons of the year one route will be found to be excellent. Switch off Confederate avenue at the Pitzer Woods and go to Pitzer's School House and then keep along the east side of Willoughby. There is a delightful drive for a mile down the valley of Willoughby and the drive does not end where the run ends but crossing Marsh Creek goes down through Freedom township until a turn is made eastward to Greenmount or westward to McLeary's School House. It is through a beautiful country and the roads are good.

The picture on front page gives an idea of the picturesque where Willoughby's Run joins Marsh Creek. It is almost directly in front of the farm of J. E. Plank. The roads are a little deceptive to the traveler who goes over the road for the first time for he might do as one was known to do, take an attractive looking way which terminated in the barn yard of Mr. Plank. Marsh Creek at this point is a beautiful sight. It has split itself into two parts, forming an island and ripples beautifully over a stony bed. Forcing both branches brings one to a high bluff along Marsh Creek and opposite the bluff Willoughby's Run slips through the shadow of trees into Marsh Creek. There is a wealth of the picturesque in water, tree and bluff.

It is a point at which for years there has been a looking for which rising waters had a fondness so that almost annually a new crossing was required. About two years ago the supervisors of Cumberland and Freedom townships determined to save this annual expense and they built a suspension bridge. There are only two bridges of the kind in this part of the county, both crossing Marsh Creek, one at the McPherson place and the other at point in picture.

On either side of the creek buttresses of stone and wood have been built to stay. The cable of wire has been stretched. The end pieces on top form a platform reached by a stairway on the outside. A wooden walk is fastened to the cables and on either side of the walk are protecting wires for support of these light of head. The bridge is unique and has well answered the purpose for which it was designed. It stays there.

The origin of the name seemed shrouded in uncertainty. It was volunteered that a family of the name may have lived in this neighborhood but no record of such name here has been found and many whom we asked could not remember such a family. Finally Zach Tawney told us that a long time ago a family by name of Willoughby lived in along the Chambersburg pike near the run. The word is also said to be of German origin, the "by" or "baugh" meaning meadow and that the name means willow meadow, and this name fittingly applies to the farm of C. E. Stahle along Mummashburg road which contributes springs to the run. This farm has some magnificent willow trees in the meadow, but it can not be said there are many willows along the run at other points. Henry Stahle thirty years ago adopted the name of "Willoughby Farm" for his place at the suggestion of Father Boll. The name also is an English one, Sir Hugh Willoughby being a navigator nearly four hundred years ago and Francis Willoughby a naturalist over two hundred years ago.

HAPPY WOMEN.

Wouldn't any woman be happy. After years of backache suffering, Days of misery, nights of unrest, The dream of urinary troubles, The final relief and cure? No reason why any reader Should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. Almira A. Jackson, of East Front St., Traverse City, Mich., says: "For twenty years I was do toring for kidney and liver trouble, but without benefit. Just before I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I was almost paralyzed. I could hardly stand on my feet because of the numbness and lack of circulation. Had a knife been thrust into my kidneys the pain could not have been more intense. My sleep was disturbed by visions of distorted figures. The kidney-secretions were annoyingly irregular, and I was tortured with thirst and always flared. I used seven boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills. The bloating subsided until I weighed 100 pounds less, could sleep like a child and was relieved of the pain and the irregularity of the kidney action. My circulation is good and I feel better in every way."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mrs. Jackson will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists; price, 50 cents per box.

Mid-Summer Store News

Specials For Hot Weather

HAMMOCKS

To rest in under the trees or on the shady porch on a hot afternoon. We had them from 50c to $4.50. Prices for August reduced from 1/4 to 1/2.

SPECIAL

Reduction of 20 per cent. on all Jardines in the store except the 10c ones, during the month of August only. This is an opportunity to supply yourselves with these useful articles which seldom occurs in Gettysburg. Take advantage of it while it lasts. There are some beauties among them.

WE STILL HAVE SOME WHITE WARE

Left that must go at the reduction prices. All we have is on the tables now, so if you want any now is your opportunity. Cups, saucers, plates, bowls, etc., are in this assortment. Our new goods is crowding this out. Speaking of new goods we have the latest designs in

JOHNSON IMPORTED DINNER WARE

Stock patterns. We can sell as full a dinner set as you want, or as few pieces as may be wanted. There are several new and beautifully decorated patterns in the lot.

ANOTHER REDUCTION

Interesting, too, on Blue Flame Coal Oil Cooking Stoves. This is good hot weather talk, not on the principle that "like cures like." These stoves are made to save temperature in summer, not to make it, as the coal stove does. Light them up when you want to get a meal, no need to keep the kitchen red-hot all day. To say nothing of the labor saving freedom from ashes. Regular prices from $3.25 to $7.75. Special prices for August only from $2.75 to $6.90.

THE BIGGEST BARGAIN

Of all is one of our REFRIGERATORS. We only have a very few of them and the fact is we haven't room for them, so we have decided to put them "down and out," and that means at a price less than we could buy them at the factory today.

THE 20 PER CENT. REDUCTION

On Decorated Lamps and a number of Dinner sets and Toilet Sets to last through the month of August. After that if there are any left they will be at the regular price.

Now we have a number of other interesting things in the store that the clerks will tell you about when you come. We would only have time to mention them here. They are interested in selling you a Washing Machine or Ice Cream Freezer, and will tell you all the good points and money value in these articles.

DO YOU KNOW WE HANDLE FARM MACHINERY

Of all kinds. Grain Drills. Manure Spreaders. Cider Mills. Feed Mills. Tornado Corn Harvesters. Gasoline Engines, etc. You can see these goods at our repository on the third floor of our store building on Baltimore street. And we sell only the very best machinery made.

STUDYING LAW.

The Law Office Not What It Once Was For Students.

Questions regarding the study of law were sent out recently to many lawyers of Illinois by the University of Illinois and elicited 1,000 replies. From these it appears that the days of studying law in a lawyer's office have passed away. Very few of the offices have any law students at all. Many of the ablest lawyers expressed the opinion that study in a law office is an absolute waste of energy. Nearly all the successful law firms declared that they had no time to devote to young men, who desired to study law and that such young men were a nuisance in the office. The only young man they could use at all was one who had already passed his examination for the state bar and who was willing to work for nothing for a year or two in order to get the experience which comes from a large office. Out of the 1,000 replies only seven favored preparation for the bar in a lawyer's office.

Another striking result of this investigation is found in the answers to the questions as to the proper degree of preliminary education a student should have before entering the law school. A majority of the whole number urged that every one taking up the study of the law should complete a full college course. Of the others a majority were in favor of at least two years in college. There was a practical unanimity that the completion of a four years' high school course was the absolute minimum which was at all acceptable. It was the general opinion that, having once entered the law school, the young man should give his entire time to the work of the school and not attempt to combine it with work in a lawyer's office or, indeed, work in any other place unless that was absolutely necessary to pay expenses. One lawyer declared that it was a poor school that could not keep a student busy all the time, and if a boy found himself in such a school he ought to leave it for one which could keep him busy.—Chicago News.

PITH AND POINT.

A child is always surprised that you don't know the washerwoman at its house.

When you throw a friend a bouquet, don't throw it so he will catch the thorns in his hands.

Hope is a progressive game. One's children failing to become famous, the hope progresses to the grandchildren.

It is easy for a woman to be polite: all she has to do is to smile, but a man has to smile and raise his hat.

Worrying about the future is believing there will be ghosts tomorrow, though you know there are none today.

Parents are hard on their children when the children are young, and when the children are old the children are hard on the parents.—Archibald Globe.

The Theological Labyrinth.

Stephen Essex, a Methodist minister, is the hero in "The Bishop's Niece." His state of mind after his early wanderings in the theological labyrinth is thus described by the author, George H. Plafie:

At twenty-seven Stephen Essex had not made a perfect recovery from the panic into which a premature discovery of the plan of salvation had thrown him. He had employed the remedies which are prescribed to heal our common mental illnesses, but their abundance and variety as well as his disposition to have none untried had retarded his convalescence. His present condition was that of one who, though realizing that he has hitherto, almost miraculously, just inside the end of opportunity, is still fearful of doing something which will undo everything.

Knox and Scotland.

Scotland owes to Knox not his existing Presbyterian government—this was the subsequent work of Andrew Melville—but that which is the chief feature and main strength of Presbyterianism—viz. the full recognition (backing in Episcopacy) of the Christian laity in the administration of the church, combined with that orderly subordination which Congregationalism fails to secure of the whole church to one representative and supreme authority. It is owing to Knox and his fellow reformers that the Scottish church avoids the danger both of hierarchy and of anarchy which Knox by Professor Henry Charnock.

A Bearded Freak.

One of the earliest of the American bearded freaks was Louis Jaspert, who lived in southern Virginia at about the time of the close of the Revolutionary war. His beard was blue and a half foot long and correspondingly thick and heavy. He could take his mustache between his fingers and extend his arms to their full length, and still the ends of the mustache were over a foot beyond his finger tips.

Important Question.

The wasp was buzzing languidly around the house cat.

"You needn't come any nearer," said the cat.

"I won't hurt you," said the wasp.

"I'm half sick today, anyhow."

"Which half?" asked the cat, backing off.—Chicago Tribune.

Too Suggestive.

Most people would rather preach half a day than practice half an hour.—Montreal Star.

A Yachting Romance

In Barnegat bay there is good fishing, and on Barnegat bay there are mosquitoes. I was there with a fishing party on a sloop we had hired at Bayhead. Being more of an explorer than a fisherman, one afternoon I took a boat and pulled in toward a cove shaded by great trees. On reaching land I saw a man standing on the shore. He was in dirty trousers and shirt, topped by a twenty-five cent straw hat, and was pulling on a pipe.

"Say, you there?" I called. "How about a landing?"

"Come right in here."

I did so, and he pulled my boat's nose up on to the shelving shore. I stepped out of the boat and, looking at the man, whom I had supposed to be a countryman, saw something familiar in his face.

"Haven't I met you somewhere?" I asked.

"Are you Tracy, the man that played right tackle on the Harvard team in 1894?"

"Yes, And you?"

"I'm Heydon. I played against you in the Yale team."

"And made the big run that gave your college the game?"

"I made a run in that game," he replied modestly.

"What in the world are you doing here?"

"Oh, I was always an odd fish. I don't like a crowd. I live here in that little sloop but up there."

"You're the hermit they were talking about on the yacht last night?"

He took me to his hut and showed me how he lived. He had built a barn in one corner, there were a firewood under the chimney where he cooked his own food, a pine table, a couple of ramshackle chairs and a cracker barrel full of tableware. He had screened his door and window with mosquito netting.

"You are an odd fish, sure enough," I said. "How long have you lived here?"

"A year this summer."

"Like it?"

"Better than jostling people who don't care for me except what they can get out of me."

I invited him to go aboard the yacht with me, but he declined, and I left him feeling sure that some unpleasant experience must have soured him.

Having completed our fishing he returned to Bayhead and I to Seabright, where I was staying with a friend in his summer cottage. We had at dinner on the night of my arrival a Miss Gannett from New York, fabulously rich. She had come in her own yacht and was on her way down the coast to Old Point Comfort. At dinner I told of my meeting with Heydon, and Miss Gannett, who was interested in curiosities, remarked that she had heard of such people, but did not believe they existed.

The next day Miss Gannett invited me to make one of the party on her yacht. I was much surprised at the invitation and particularly delighted. Who could tell but that I might make a match for myself on the trip. Miss Gannett was a very pretty girl or woman—she was twenty-six years old—and there were few bachelors who would not be pleased to marry an attractive woman with a large fortune. I accepted at once, and we started on the voyage.

"Is the fishing really very good in Barnegat bay?" she asked me as we were nearing its mouth.

"Not very; the mosquitoes are horrible."

"I dote on fishing. I think we'd better put in there and see if we can get a few blackfish."

"We might visit the hermit," I suggested.

"Oh, we won't have time for that."

Rounding the point, we sailed up the bay and anchored not far from where we had fished a week before. It was sunset when the anchor fell, and by 9 o'clock Miss Gannett was in her berth with a headache. The hostess, having withdrawn the other ladies followed, and the men not wishing to keep them awake, turned in also.

All the next day we sailed up and down the bay or lay at anchor fishing, and despite my report on Barnegat bay as a fishing ground we were sharply loaded with fish. I saw that, after sitting enough to empty our barrels for a few days, we might as well sail south, but Miss Gannett, though the heat and the insects, persisted in remaining where we were. For two days we fished, roasted and fried the little pests, but on the morning of the third day, looking out the cabin windows, my cabin I saw that we were on our way. I dressed and went on deck. Our hostess was already up and organizing the fish-catching even air. Rootless Rufus stood a seaward figure in a new speck and span suit, wearing blue pajamas and cap, with white dammed trousers. His back was toward me, but he turned presently and gave me the surprise of my life. He was the hermit.

Miss Gannett called to me. "I wish to introduce you to my fiancé, Mr. Heydon," she said, smiling. "I believe you have met before."

"When did he come aboard?" were the first words I succeeded in getting out.

"Last night."

Years afterward Heydon told me the story. They had been lovers, but Miss Gannett's money had made trouble between them, and Heydon had disappeared. It was I who discovered him and put his ladylove on his track. She had been rowed ashore on the night of our arrival in the bay. They had made it up. Heydon had gone by train to New York for clothes and, returning, had come aboard after midnight.

SUNNER CHILDS.

THE WEARING OF BEARDS.

At One Time a Tax Was Exact for the Privilege.

In days gone by the wearing of a beard was a privilege that had to be paid for, the tax on every board of a fortnight's growth being 3s. 4d. In the glorious days of Queen Elizabeth, for over half a century the monarchs of Russia made their male subjects who wore beards pay into the national exchequer. This tax was imposed by Peter the Great in 1705, the nobles having to disfigure their faces and the lower classes to keep it. The tax on beards was kept up by Peter's four successors on the throne of all the Russias, and it was finally repealed in 1762 by Catherine II. France, too, at one time imposed a beard tax upon the clergy, which was paid by those who could afford it, although the large majority had to yield to the razors onslaught.

In the fourteenth century shaving was popular with young men, while the old men were attached to forked beards. The latter custom is referred to by Chaucer, who in describing an assembly says, "A merchant was there with a forked beard." Beards were worn in various shapes and forms during the reigns of Elizabeth, James I. and Charles I., as the poems, plays and other literary productions of those periods amply testify. In his "Anatomy of Abuses" Stubbs alludes to the barber who was accustomed to ask his client whether he wished his beard "cut to look terrible to your enemy or amiable to your friends, grim and stern in countenance or pleasant and demure."

William Harrison, a clergyman from whom one gains many peeps at the sixteenth century, refers to some of the styles of beards at that period. If a face happened to be "platter-like," a long, slender beard would make it seem the narrower. If it be weasel beaked, then "much hair left on the cheeks will make the owner look like a howled bed and so grim as a goose."—London Standard.

BUTTER WEIGHT.

What One Observer Learned From a Visit to a Grocery.

Live and learn. I heard a respectable looking, motherly soul, making purchases for the family, say to the grocer, "Be sure to give me butter weight, now, for I've been a long time customer of yours." "Certainly, Mrs. MacLaren," he replied cheerily, "you are entitled to it if any one is." Yet she bought no butter.

"What is butter weight?" I inquired when she had gone. "Why, that's just a little sop we hand out to some of our old customers," said the salesman. "Instead of making an exact pound of anything they buy we make it a fraction over, which tickles them nearly to death. Of course we are particular to let them see they are getting more than their money's worth; hence we keep their trade."

I next asked how the store made up for this extra allowance. "That's dead easy," was the reply, "but as it is a trick of the trade I don't think we ought to tell everybody." "Perhaps other customers receive short weight?" "If they do, we don't let 'em know it."

"Maybe your prices are just a fraction over the market?" "Never! We sell cheaper than anybody." "Maybe your goods are inferior?" At that he quailed.

Referring to a dictionary, I learned that butter weight is an allusion to a custom of exacting seventeen or eighteen ounces or even more to the pound of butter, possibly on the ground that the water in it would soon evaporate and bring the pound down to sixteen ounces. In Scotland ten weight (twenty-one to twenty-eight ounces to the pound) was used in buying butter.—New York Press.

When Wagner Fled.

Richard Wagner, the composer, was an ardent republican in 1849. In the archives of Dresden there is a document setting forth a case of high treason against the musician. He was accused of having written to a friend a letter proposing to turn Saxony into a republic. "But whom shall we make president?" he asked. "I see nobody competent for the office except our present sovereign, Frederick Augustus II." Frederick Augustus does not seem to have appreciated the humor of the suggestion, that he should doff the crown and consent thus if with the dignity of a republican president. For this dash of republicanism Wagner had to look to Saxony.

Artificial Eyes.

The first false eye was a metal band which encircled the eye and was fitted with a glass to cover the true eye, except a small opening in which the eye was exposed. It was a clumsy affair, the holes of which were of gold, silver or even enamel, or painted to resemble the eye and a sort of under-eyelid. As an improvement upon these, artificial eyes were made of porcelain and at last of glass.

Its Peculiarity.

"Did you ever notice anything funny about his conversation?"

"Funny? I should say not. There's absolutely no point to it."

"That's the funny part of it. Having no point to it, how is it that he becomes so quickly?"—Philadelphia Press.
